

Values are principles that guide our thinking and our behavior .

Are you Living your Values?

HONESTY

I can BEE HONEST

by showing I am truthful and trustworthy, and not lying, cheating, or stealing.

Baby Steps

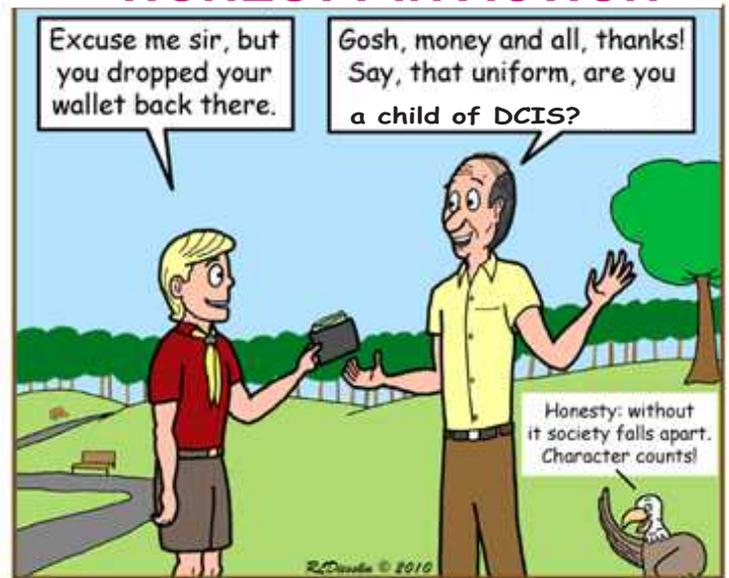

Our teachers and supports staff all worked to reflect the value of the month through our teaching and relationship with the children. Value Based Assembly were conducted by our faculties this month endorsing HONESTY, every fortnight. The teachers worked with children by their beside, spending time with them in the classroom conducting circle time and creating a conducive atmosphere for them to share their real life experiences.

“Honesty is the first chapter in the book of wisdom...”

Thomas Jefferson

HONESTY IN ACTION

For the Adults.. Don't confront your kids with anger or threats. If you make it safe for them, they will be honest. Firm on honesty and gentle on your kids...

The school's endeavor VBE:

We here at DCIS mould the character of the younger generation through a system of wholesome learning, so that the earnest pursuit to achieve goals and being a successful in life is matched by an ardent desire to extend selfless service to society one complimenting the other.

Expectation from Parents...

We are the responsible citizens of India and the credit goes to our former schools and our parents. Parents occupy an important place in the life of children. They are the first teachers. They are the ones who instill values and good habits in a child. Honesty is one value that parents inculcate in the children from day one. It is indeed one of the most important values. But as parents we need to introspect if we really practice what we reach as parents are considered to be role models. This generation is very smart. It observes each and everything. Parents need to undertake some responsibilities. Make sure that you don't indulge in dishonest practices in front of kids. Share anecdotes of people who were acknowledged because they never gave in to the temptation of lying. Make belief characters that can be created and as parents you can weave stories around these characters to inculcate the values of HONESTY. If you could also use the language of values at home, it would really help us to reinforce the discussions we have at school.
